MPD officer faces domestic battery charge

Brian Ashcraft

Ashcraft placed on administrative leave back in July

BY MARK CAMPBELL
Detectives from the Indiana State Police-Versailles Post on Tuesday arrested a Madison Police Officer on a charge of domestic battery following an incident that occurred a month earlier in Ripley County.

A woman went to the Indiana State Police-Versailles Post on July 11, and reported that she had been battered by her live-in boyfriend, Brian M. Ashcraft, 36, a police officer with the Madison Police Department. The alleged incident occurred at the residence they share in Versailles. An investigation by ISP Detective Grant Martin determined that Ashcraft and the woman allegedly got into an altercation on July 10, 2021. During the altercation, Ashcraft put his hands on her and pushed her while making threatening statements.

Delta variant surge leads to crowding hospital ICUs

Overwhelming majority at KDH-Madison are unvaccinated

BY MARK CAMPBELL
Recent increases in COVID-19 infections is impacting healthcare systems through the region as more and more patients — mainly those who have not been vaccinated — are being admitted to hospital Intensive Care Units for treatment of critical and/or life-threatening illness caused by the highly contagious delta variant. The surge, seen throughout neighboring Kentucky and many states in the south as well as some hospitals in Indiana, has forced some facilities to open more COVID wards and others to seek out hospitals with the capacity available to take their patient overflow. “Our COVID ICU is currently full and we’ve opened a fourth COVID unit,” said Dr.

To emphasize the risk of going unvaccinated, Dr. Stacy Caudill, chief medical officer at King’s Daughters’ Medical Center in Ashland, noted that 94% of her hospital’s COVID patients are unvaccinated, and everyone in intensive care skipped getting the shots.

Stacy Caudill, chief medical officer at King’s Daughters’ Medical Center in Ashland, Kentucky at a press conference called by Kentucky Gov. Andy Beshear Thursday. To emphasize the risk of going unvaccinated, Caudill noted that 94% of her hospital’s COVID-19 patients are unvaccinated, and everyone in intensive care skipped getting the shots. Doctors from northeastern Kentucky painted a similarly grim situation Thursday as the state confronts surging coronavirus cases and hospitalizations. Beshear is hoping testimonials from doctors like Caudill and other health care workers will finally convince residents to be vaccinated. While KDH in Ashland is overflowing with cases, King’s Daughters’ Hospital in Madison is still handling the increase in new cases but the trend at the hilltop medical center is moving in the wrong direction. COVID cases are on the rise in Jefferson County and King’s Daughters’ Hospital in Madison is seeing more serious cases and appealing to residents — and hospital employees — to get vaccinated. “We have seen a significant increase in hospitalized patients due to serious COVID illness, some requiring admittance to the Intensive Care Unit (ICU),” the hospital said in a statement issued by Dave Ommen, public information specialist. “The number of hospitalized COVID patients, including those in the ICU, varies from day to day. Locally, and across the country, the overwhelming majority of COVID patients who end up in the hospital are unvaccinated. While treatment protocols have improved, the virus can still lead to critical, life-threatening illness.”

Development plan could pay dividends regardless of funding

BY BOB DEMAREE

Proposals submitted by Madison and Jefferson County have scored well in the Regional Economic Acceleration and Development Initiative’s competition for up to $50 million in state economic development funds but Madison Mayor Bob Courtney notes the process could pay dividends regardless of whether local projects receiving funding.

Bob Courtney

Courtney said the process is moving the city’s economic development efforts forward in a greater way. “It has allowed us to map out our economic development for the next two to four years,” said Courtney. “It really was a fantastic exercise” that has helped the city to create a strategy that “weaves already-existing economic development initiatives along with newer opportunities.” At the same time, the city’s proposed projects have been rated exceptionally well, along with projects submitted by other governmental entities in Jefferson County through the five-county Our Southern Indiana Regional Development Authority’s project scoreboard. The City of Madison’s destination development proposal received a 5.0 rating out of a possible 6.0. “We were in the top five of the 53 that were scored,” said Courtney, noting that also placed that project in the top 10% of all that were scored.

Rated even higher at 5.3 is a project submitted by Hanover College in which the college would partner with Ivy Tech-Madison to establish southern Indiana as a hub for veterinary medicine, bio science and agribusiness. Another project, submitted by the OurSIRDA, includes a broadband plan for Clark, Floyd, Scott and Jefferson counties that is rated at 5.4. The City of Madison’s plan would leverage $11,366,318 from the READI grant with an investment plan totaling $153,680,256 in private, state and local capital. Courtney said the overall capital plan would contribute more than one-quarter of a billion dollars to Madison’s economy over the next two to five years which he said “is a phenomenal result for a community the size of Madison.” In addition to the destination development plan, the city submitted a workforce development plan that was rated at 4.3. That plan involves an innovation center, industry expansion, new Madison firefighters work to set up a fan to vent smoke after a fire in the basement of a home in the 200 block of Green Road on Wednesday.

Firefighters respond to basement fire

BY BOB DEMAREE
Madison firefighters responded to a fire in a residence in the 200 block of Green Road Wednesday on Madison's hilltop.
The fire was reported at about 4 p.m. when a resident of the home, which according to property records is owned by Cameron and Megan Hizey, smelled smoke before smoke detectors activated. The house was safely evacuated prior to the arrival of firefighters and no injuries were reported.

Firefighter located the source of the fire in the basement of the home and the origin is believed to be electrical. The fire was contained to the basement with firefighters extinguishing the blaze and evacuating smoke from the structure.
Madison Fire Department was assisted by Madison Police Department, King's Daughters' Hospital Emergency Medical Service, Duke Energy, Center Point Energy and the Salvation Army.

The argument continued on July 11, where Ashcraft again grabbed the woman's face.
At the conclusion of the investigation, the case was presented to the Ripley County Prosecutor's Office for review and an arrest warrant for Domestic Battery, a Class A Misdemeanor, was issued for Ashcraft. Ashcraft was arrested Tuesday without incident and transported to the Ripley County Jail where he was incarcerated.
According to Madison Police Chief John Wallace, Ashcraft was assigned to paid administrative leave as soon as the department learned about the investigation on July 11. He said Ashcraft, a patrolman in rank, has been with the department since May 7, 2018, and was previously a reserve officer in Dearborn County.
During his tenure with Madison, Ashcraft has excelled as both a patrolman and K9 officer where he and partner "Colt" have won competitions and been recognized for speed and efficiency.
Ashcraft also received the city's Medal of Valor award in December 2019 related to his quick and courageous response to an active shooter call in rural Jefferson County in November 2019. One of the first officers to arrive at the scene, Ashcraft "forcibly entered the residence with no hesitation" while the active shooter was firing a 9 mm handgun through the floor and carried out two children to safety and then went back inside to help other officers rescue three more family members before the suspect eventually shot and wounded an ISP SWAT team member.

Wallace said Ashcraft will remain on administrative leave until further notice. However, he asked the city's Madison Police Merit Board to call a special meeting on Wednesday, Aug. 18 for the purpose of an executive session on personnel matters.
"I stand by the decision of Chief Wallace to place Officer Ashcraft on administrative leave to allow due process," Madison Mayor Bob Courtney said. "Officer Ashcraft has had an exemplary record while serving on the MPD, but we want to stress that no one is above the law, and if the allegations result in a conviction, we will address it at that time. I thank Chief Wallace and the Indiana State Police for their work."
Wallace also said that pending the outcome of the case, Colt will be assigned to another handler and spend a couple of weeks training with that officer before being returned to active duty.

Census: Switzerland saw biggest drop in state

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
INDIANAPOLIS — More than half of Indiana’s counties lost population during the last decade, according to U.S. Census figures released Thursday showing growth around Indianapolis and its other largest cities while rural Switzerland County saw the biggest drop. In fact, many rural counties scattered across the state lost population, including 11 that lost more than 5% of their residents. The biggest percentage population decline was 8.3% in Switzerland County. Population declines were recorded for 49 of Indiana’s 92 counties as the state mirrored Hamilton, Boone and Hendricks counties in suburban Indianapolis all had population gains of more than 20% between 2010 and 2020, during which time the census found Indiana as a whole grew 4.7% to about 6.8 million residents. The census data will be used by state lawmakers in the coming weeks to redraw election districts for U.S. House and state Legislature seats. Five of the six Indiana counties gaining the most people over the past decade were in central Indiana. Indianapolis and Marion County grew by nearly 74,000, or 8.2%, to 977,000 people. Northern suburban Hamilton County was close behind as it added 73,000 people, or 26.5%, to 347,000. Overall, Indianapolis and its seven adjoining counties grew by 13%.

single and multifamily affordable housing, drinking water infrastructure, ADA accessible park improvements, and a focus on adult sport and outdoor recreation. The destination development plan also includes expanded the branding of Madison as Indiana’s Music City, new housing, performance venues, riverfront development and gateway enhancement. Hanover College’s proposal for a veterinary hub is requesting $5.9 million in READI funds and is using the $5.9 million sewer project with the town of Hanover as local government matching funds while also looking for $4.6 million in other funds that might include philanthropic support and new market tax credits. Hanover College also submitted a Madison-Hanover connector bike trail, rated at 4.7, in which $2.8 million in READI funds is being requested. Jefferson County submitted three plans — the development of an airport at the Jefferson Proving Ground that might be used as a hub for air freight, infrastructure improvements in the southwest portion of Jefferson County connecting with the northeast part of Clark County and southeast part of Scott County, and a collaboration with city on the Ohio Theatre. The JPG airport project was rated at 4.2, the infrastructure development was rated at 3.7 and the Ohio Theatre project was rated at 4.1. There is some overlap in some project submissions in that city’s effort includes mention of the Ohio Theatre, along with the Scott Block Lofts at 301-311 West Main Street that was submitted by Anderson Partners LLC, an Indianapolis law firm, with a 4.2 rating. Courtney said that inclusion of the Ohio Theatre and the Scott Block Lofts in the city’s plan is part of a greater strategy that includes the proposed Mulberry Street arts corridor, redevelopment of Madison coal property, Milton-Madison Bridge gateway, the Rucker Sports Complex, Madison Plaza multi-use redevelopment, a grocery store in downtown Madison, and much more. “We have 42 partners and supporters of our plan,” he said. Wendy Dant-Cheeser, facilitator for OurSIRDA, said as projects are reviewed in the next month the region will work to “make sure we’re understanding how interdependency of some of these projects” and even as similar projects may have been submitted by different entities, she said the funding request will be one. The projects were evaluated on whether they have a regional impact and benefit multiple communities. Additionally, there was criteria including workforce development, economic development, promoting natural assets, providing connections, creating destinations, and enhancement of infrastructure. Dant-Cheeser said she was pleased with how the scoring went, particularly in that there was good representation from all counties in the region, which includes Clark, Floyd, Jefferson, Scott and Washington counties. “We had projects in each of the priority areas,” she noted. The total READI request for all regional projects came to $208,925,149, but when that is totaled with additional investment sources from public and private sources, it pushes the estimated overall project total of nearly $1.5 billion. Dant-Cheeser said the region has tallied the overall project totals because “we wanted to show if each of these projects are built out, we would see almost $1.5 billion of investment in our region.” She said throughout August OurSIRDA will be working to trim the region’s READI request closer to $50 million while likely submitting a proposal that’s more than that. “We’ll probably make a recommendation to the board that we’ll put in more than $50 million for the READI projects” because of what Mark Wasky, vice president, Innovation and Strategic Initiatives for the Indiana Economic Development Corporation (IEDC), said at OurSIRDA’s meeting at Scottsburg in June. “He told us, ‘Don’t limit your proposal to $50 million’ because it’s more about developing a compelling strategy that will provide economic development for Indiana. “There’s been real conversation about which project will get us across the goal line,” she said, noting that even if the projects total more than $50 million, it will likely be less than $100 million. The original deadline for regions to submit their proposals was Aug. 31, but earlier this month Gov. Eric Holcomb extended the date to Sept. 30. “We would have had a good proposal on Aug. 31,” Dant-Cheeser said. “This gives us an opportunity to make not just good, but great ... We feel good about where we are. What we’re spending our time doing is trying to understand some of the projects better. We’re going through the list and meeting with as many of the project submitters that we can to understand their projects better.” On Friday, Sept. 3, the OurSIRDA will meet in Washington County to review a draft of the region’s plan. Then on Friday, Sept. 24, the board will meet to approve the final plan that will be submitted by Sept. 30. Kevin Kellems, who represents Jefferson County on the OurSIRDA board, said that READI is setting the stage for more economic development opportunities, noting state officials have expressed they are “happy to look to our advocacy for our projects that may match other funding streams elsewhere in state government, and even federal government.” Kellems said READI is “about a conversation with key officials about how much opportunity for transformational economic development that can go beyond this proposal. This is our prime task and a great one.” Dant-Cheeser said READI has proven to be a successful venture for the state’s economic development efforts. “When state issued call for regions, they asked communities to band together and form regions,” and she said it’s impressive that 18 regions are participating, which she said is higher than anticipated. “I thought they were going to get 12, but they got 18. They also got of 92 counties in the initial draw 91 of 92 counties joined a region” and just recently the lone non-participating county, Fayette County, joined a region, so now all of the state’s counties are involved in the READI process. “If you’re a policy maker, and you put a program out and you’re not sure how many folks are going to take you up on it, yet all 92 counties say, yep we’re going to participate in this. That tells me this could have staying power,” said Dant-Chesser, who’s hopeful similar state initiatives might provide more opportunities. “We need to maximize what we get out of it this time, but hopefully there will be another bite in the apple.” Kellems said as the region defines projects and strategies that if OurSIRDA is awarded the $50 million through READI that it’s “potentially transformational.” Dant-Cheeser noted “we’re past the time of being competitive with one another for projects, and really trying to get focused to think about this now. We’ve got to take all our efforts and be focused on being competitive with those other 17 regions in Indiana if we’re going to see any of this come to fruition.” Courtney noted that by making the region stronger, READI is good for Madison and Jefferson County. “The next several years will be one of tremendous opportunity for the City of Madison and Jefferson County,” he said. “The strategic investment plans that we submitted for the READI grants focused on workforce and destination development that included housing, infrastructure, a grocery store, innovation, recreation, and community capacity building. The county was well represented which will result in tremendous economic impact in the next few years.”

Family introductions

Dear Annie: My husband and I have been married for five years. We have a beautiful daughter, and we've got a son on the way. But I keep finding my husband using dating websites and chatrooms for singles. When I ask him about it, he gets angry and says, "That's from months ago!" But whenever I check the browser history, there are always more recently visited websites. He says that he never talks to anyone, just looks. How can I make him see that I love him and that those are not sites for married people? Should I just give up and end the marriage? I'm at a loss. — Taken for Granted

Dear Taken: You don't need to make him see that those sites aren't for married people. He already knows. He just doesn't care or is too addicted to the rush to stop. Whatever the case, his blatant disregard for your feelings is shocking, and the fact that he's doing all this while you're pregnant adds insult to injury. If you two are going to truly work through this, it will be with the help of a marriage counselor. If he refuses to go, then it might be time to start speaking discreetly with an attorney about your options.

Dear Annie: My son, "Rick," and a former friend of his, "Cherie," had a baby together. I love Cherie and the baby so much, and I'm fortunate that I get to see my grandson every other week. My issue is, how do I introduce Cherie to family members who have never met her?

I'm also not sure how to introduce the woman whom Rick is currently dating. I really don't care for her, but they live together. How should I introduce her to the family? — Mum Mom

Dear Mum: Keep it simple. Introduce Cherie by name and as the mother of your grandson. Introduce Rick's girlfriend as Rick's girlfriend because that's what she is, whether you like it or not.

Dear Annie: You have had several letters recently about people who drink too much. I have been doing some research on the subject since my niece died several weeks ago of organ failure after years of drinking. She would not take the advice of anyone, but now her problems are over. The best thing I've found is some research done by William Porter, a British solicitor (lawyer) who quit drinking seven years ago. He has written several books on the subject of alcohol. His site is <http://www.alcohol-explained.com>. The first five chapters of his book "Alcohol Explained" can be read free online. Once you read what alcohol does to your brain, you will never touch it again. He has several other books and videos. All are very thought-provoking. — Carolyn A.

Dear Carolyn: I am so sorry that this insidious disease claimed the life of your niece. I read the five chapters available online of "Alcohol Explained." As you noted, the author is a lawyer, not a doctor, but he offers a plain-spoken, useful overview of the chemical workings behind the disease of alcoholism. I don't share the view of Alcoholics Anonymous that he conveys in the introduction. However, I do know that some folks struggling with problematic drinking would like options besides AA, and self-education through books such as these can be helpful. (Other good options include Families Anonymous and LifeRing Secular Recovery.)

Addiction affects everyone

Dear Annie: A few years ago, my son's wife decided to divorce him because she didn't love him anymore. We accepted that and showed our support for her despite her decision. Shortly thereafter, she was arrested for a heinous crime that I won't elaborate. It impacted her children.

My son does not keep her parents from attending events that the kids are in because they are their grandparents. The issue that we are dealing with is: Her parents are ignoring their daughter's crime and constantly talk about her to us. My son is now dating a wonderful woman, and she's been a victim of these conversations as well.

Is there a polite way to tell them that we do not want to hear about their daughter as she awaits her trial, which has been delayed because of COVID-19? — Former Daughter-in-Law's Parents

Dear Parents: The polite thing to do is to say directly that you don't feel comfortable talking at length about their daughter. Change the subject if they continue. You can also use body language and give them a cold shoulder. Remember you are giving them the gift of your time by listening to them, and that is something they should respect. If you feel uncomfortable, then walk away; just as their daughter walked away from her marriage to your son.

Dear Annie: I have never written to an advice columnist before, so please pardon my ignorance.

We have a beautiful 29-year-old daughter with a serious alcohol problem. She has gone through one marriage and several boyfriends. Now she is living at our home. Her current boyfriend is a good fellow. She makes excuses and finds alcohol somehow. We stopped funding her completely. Today, she stole from her boyfriend and drank. He is pretty upset.

She has been to a number of rehabs for help. Her liver was very damaged, and she saw a liver specialist for a possible transplant.

We have spent a lot of money already since she was 18. We are getting older — ages 67 and 63. We are both physicians.

We are at our wit's end. Any suggestive help is appreciated. My wife and I have lost all our peace of mind as to how to deal with her. — At Our Wit's End

Dear Wit's End: I am so sorry that you and your wife have had to live through the nightmare of your daughter's disease. The truth is that everyone involved is at their wit's end because of her drinking — including your daughter. That will continue to be the case until she hits bottom and decides to get help. Stay the course and continue to be a loving and supportive parent while making sure you do not enable her behavior. Look into attending Alcoholics Anonymous meetings in your area. There are many others who have loved ones who are suffering from this disease.

KDH-Madison is recommending that local residents be vaccinated and is now asking its own employees to take the shot, too, but Ommen said no workers have been terminated over the issue.

“In the best interest of our patients, team members and community, we are asking that our employees be vaccinated. Many hospitals across the country have mandated the vaccine,” Ommen wrote in the statement. “KDH has not terminated any employees related to the vaccine.”

Ommen went on to write that while the vaccine does not totally eliminate getting the coronavirus, it has reduced the likelihood and seriousness of infection and that could keep more patients out of ICUs.

“Thankfully, KDH is currently able to care for its patients. As a health-care organization, KDH encourages eligible community members to seek vaccination against COVID-19 and follow local health department recommendations,” Ommen said. “Studies show that COVID-19 vaccines significantly reduce both the risk of infection and the risk of serious illness from the disease.

“On a related note, we continue to ask our community for kindness and understanding during the patient care process. Increased volumes sometimes lengthen waiting times. We appreciate everyone’s patience as we care for those in need.”

Elsewhere, health professionals said they’re also now seeing younger virus patients due to the delta variant. They’re also seeing the regret among patients who could have gotten the vaccine but refused to do so.

“While I wish I could share a more positive message and tell you we’re winning the war against this virus, that is just not true,” said Cindy Lucchese, chief nurse executive for University of Louisville Physicians, at the news conference in Kentucky.

Daily virus cases in Kentucky have escalated statewide from about 200 a month ago to nearly 3,000 on Wednesday. Beshear warned that the virus surge is not only a threat to life but to the state’s economic resurgence.

On Thursday, more than 1,370 virus patients were hospitalized in Kentucky, including 357 in intensive care units, the state said. Nearly 69% of the state’s inpatient hospital beds were occupied, and 66% of the overall ICU beds.

“I’m going to level with you, our hospitals may get full, even with the steps that we’re taking,” Beshear said. “This delta variant is that serious. We’re going to see a lot of loss moving forward. But I think we can lessen that loss and protect each other, if everybody went out and got vaccinated.”

Beshear this week mandated indoor mask wearing in K-12 Kentucky schools, regardless of vaccination status, prompting some pushback from state Republican leaders and a mixed response from school officials. The requirement also applies to preschools and child care centers.

The health professionals expressed their resolve to keep up the fight as cases continue to rise, but it came with a plea for help.

“We’re worn out, but we’re not going to give up,” Dr. William Melahn, chief medical officer of St. Claire HealthCare in Morehead said. “But if you really want to help us, go get vaccinated. Vaccinations are extraordinarily safe. We’ve not seen anybody in our emergency room with a vaccine complication. But we’ve seen, I don’t know how many COVID patients who have not been vaccinated.”

Madison reduces capacity as virus flares back up

BY DAVID CAMPBELL
The COVID-19 pandemic has seen a resurgence in recent weeks, but despite “Red” designations in all four local counties, there will be little change in how local high schools will conduct athletic contests.
Only Madison Consolidated High School has made a change to its procedures, instituting a 25% capacity limit on all athletic events until the infection numbers improve. The school is also encouraging mask wearing by all spectators but stopped short of mandating masks.

Southwestern, Shawe, Switzerland County and Carroll County are not making any changes to their procedures at this time, according to each school’s athletic director, with normal capacities allowed. Trimble County AD Brent Turner was unavailable for comment and Hanover College, which does not have an athletic event until next month, has announced no changes.

Each athletic director said that changes could be made in the future and that the decision on how to handle the pandemic falls on school boards and with school administrations. But for now, no other changes are expected.
That is different than this time a year ago when, despite COVID numbers being lower than they are now, schools limited crowds to few or no fans at all, and dozens of events were canceled weekly.

So far, only three athletic events have been canceled due to the pandemic, two of which involve Austin High School, which has switched to virtual learning. Madison’s boys soccer game against Corydon, scheduled for today, has been rescheduled for Sept. 18 while Southwestern’s girls soccer game against Austin on Wednesday and Switzerland County’s boys soccer game against Austin next Thursday have both been postponed to a later date.

After spending the summer under “Blue” conditions, both Jefferson and Switzerland counties have spiked in the past several weeks as the Delta variant of COVID-19 sweeps across the southeastern United States.
The fall sports season officially kicks off in earnest on both sides of the Ohio River starting next week.

Madison, Switzerland warm up in soccer scrimmage

BY DAVID CAMPBELL
The boys soccer programs at Madison and Switzerland County each got a chance to hit the field for their one and only scrimmage of the preseason when they battled on the turf at Cub Field Wednesday.
Madison “won” the three-period scrimmage by a score of 5-1 but both coaches said just getting a chance to see their teams in action was the most important benefit of the afternoon.

“We have scrimmaged ourselves but this gives a chance to get a real feel of what we have,” Madison coach Kyle Bipes said. “We saw some things out there, some good and some things we need to work on, but it was good for us overall.”

“We haven’t had a scrimmage in a long time so this was a good chance for us to get on the field and see what we need to work on,” first-year coach David Todd said of the Pacers. “I think for the most part, we were happy with what we saw.”

The scrimmage was divided into four parts: A 25-minute varsity period, a 25-minute junior varsity period, a 30-minute mixed period, and penalty kicks.

Madison got goals from Caden Plew and Henry Grote in the first period while outshooting the Pacers 9-0. The two JV squads battled to a 0-0 tie in the second period with Switzerland holding a 4-1 advantage in shots, and Madison won the third period 3-1 getting goals by Grote, Adriano Martinez and Ian Eirikkson while outshooting the Pacers 7-2. Switzerland’s lone goal was by Aiden Furnish off an assist from Levi Curlin.

David Campbell

Switzerland County goalie Aiden Furnish reacts after knocking away a shot during the Pacers’ scrimmage at Madison on Wednesday.

Madison then won the penalty kicks 14-12.

For Bipes, the key to the season will be if the Cubs can consistently score, especially considering how good Madison’s defense projects to be.

“Last year we didn’t have a natural goal-scorer. With the way we play, we don’t play like a professional level or a college level where it’s smooth, quick passes, it’s mostly playing through balls which is 95% of what high school teams do,” Bipes said. “With Henry (Grote) back and on top, he’s big, he’s fast, he’s got a big boot, it’s really going to open up some things up the middle for Adriano (Martinez), Harrison (Hall) and Sonny (Koren). And if we can put Jack (Kelsey) up a little bit, I’m hoping we can score more goals again like we did two years ago.”

Despite giving up five goals, Todd was pleased with the way his team played, especially against what he considered to be a talented side.

“Madison will play a lot tougher schedule than us and that’s good for us. It gives us a chance to see this kind of team up close,” Todd said.

“I was actually really happy with our defense. We gave up two goals in the first period, but one was a corner kick — and we’ll work on that — and the other was just a breakdown where the guy got behind us. But I thought overall we played well.”

Todd, who has coached basketball most of his career, is making his first foray into coaching soccer and is loving every second of it, even finding time to poke fun at himself.

“It’s been a lot of fun except I haven’t figured out this hands part yet. You’re not supposed to use your hands,” Todd smiled. “I’ve really enjoyed it. I’ve gotten a chance to be around the sport for a long time at the club level with my kids and when the job came open, I wanted somebody who was enthusiastic about the position. Plus, I get a chance to spend time with my two boys and that’s great. It’s been fun.”

Todd’s son, Logan, is serving as an assistant coach while his younger son, Cooper, is a freshman on the team.

Madison was scheduled to open the regular season today but that home match against Corydon Central has been moved to Sept. 18 due to COVID-19 concerns at Corydon.

The Cubs will host Greensburg on Tuesday in their opener and head to Southwestern next Thursday.

Switzerland County also opens the season on Tuesday when it travels to Henryville. The Pacers’ home game with Austin next Thursday has been canceled due to COVID issues.

Carroll County beats Trimble in dual boys golf meet at Cardinal Hills

BY LAUREN HANEY
Carroll County came out on top on the back nine at Cardinal Hills Golf Course in Bedford Wednesday to defeat host Trimble County, 191-211, in boys golf.

Luke Staley finished with a 45 to lead Carroll, missing low medalist by two strokes. Following closely was Brandon Battaglia with a 46, Jaxon Hewitt with a 47 and Connor Mefford at 53.

“A couple of our guys could have scored better than they did today, and I think that they were a little bit disappointed in their performance. This is the first time some of them have played the back nine here — it’s a tough nine,” Carroll coach Will Yager said. “I think we’ve got a pretty balanced group of guys. We’ve got a couple seniors, couple juniors, couple sophomores. A lot of them have games and experience over the last few years and I think we’ll compete well with our match schedule and our tournaments.”

Trimble County freshman Collin Stark was the low medalist with a 43, followed by Dalton Penick with a 49, Dylan Penick at 59 and Kagan Craig with a 60.

“My chipping game was really good today,” Stark said. “I think I can still improve on my long game.”

“We’re improving. We will gradually get better. A lot of new kids — inexperienced, nerves that will settle down and we’ll get better,” Trimble coach Scotty Stark said.

Carroll County was scheduled to face Owen County on Thursday but that match was canceled due to the heat index. The Panthers return to action on Tuesday when they host Gallatin County at Fairway Golf Course in Wheatley. Trimble also plays on Tuesday against Walton-Verona at Sugar Bay in Warsaw. Trimble and Carroll were also scheduled to meet in a girls golf match on Thursday at Cardinal Hills but Carroll was unable to field a team so the match was canceled. Trimble’s girls head to Henry County on Monday in New Castle.

Reds hit slam, 4 more HRs, dominate Braves, 12-3

BY GEORGE HENRY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

ATLANTA — Jesse Winker hit a grand slam in the second inning, the Reds added four more homers, and Cincinnati snapped a three-game skid with an 12-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves on Thursday night.

Winker's 24th homer, the second grand slam of his career, cleared the wall in right field to give the Reds a 4-1 lead after singles by Tyler Naquin and pitcher Vladimir Gutiérrez and a walk to Jonathan India.

"I was just looking for something up to drive," Winker said. "Naquin gets the hit and then Gutie gets a hit right behind him and Jon works the great walk. Then he threw the first pitch for a ball, so I really just cut the zone in half. I was looking for something up just to drive. It got up and got out, so I was pumped about that."

The loss dropped Atlanta, which had won three straight and eight of 10, one game behind first-place Philadelphia and into third place in the NL East. The New York Mets are in second place, a half-game ahead of the Braves, who began the day tied for first.

Cincinnati, which remained eight games behind first-place Milwaukee in the NL Central, tacked on five runs in the third to make it 9-1. Tyler Stephenson scored from second on Eugenio Suárez's double. Naquin hit his 14th homer, a three-run shot off Josh Tomlin, and India added his 14th homer.

Gutiérrez, who won his fourth straight start, walked two batters in the bottom of the first, and Jorge Soler scored from second on Dansby Swanson's bloop single to make it 1-0. Gutiérrez stranded two runners in scoring position on Adam Duvall's groundout.

Gutiérrez (8-3) gave up one run and five hits with two walks and six strikeouts in six innings. Since losing 15-11 to the New York Mets on July 19, Gutiérrez has a 1.78 ERA over his last four starts.

Winker, who went 3 for 4, hit his 32nd double in the sixth off Tomlin, and Kyle Farmer followed with his 11th homer to make it 11-1. Winker began the day tied for the major league lead in doubles and extra-base hits.

"As good as our offense has been, we haven't had too many games like this, so it's nice," Cincinnati manager David Bell said. "Guys have been working so hard to get some results, to get some hits, the home runs, big days by several of our position players. That always helps. It's kind of rewarding to get the home runs and the hits and all the runs."

Stephenson hit his seventh homer in the ninth.

Braves 8, Reds 6, 11 innings (Wednesday) — Ozzie Albies crushed a three-run homer off Lucas Sims in the bottom of the 11th inning, lifting the Atlanta Braves to an 8-6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds on Wednesday night.

Albies' 19th homer sailed 412 feet into the right-field stands to send Truist Park into a wild celebration. He drove in placement runner Adam Duvall and Joc Pederson, whom Sims (4-2) walked.

Kyle Farmer singled in the tiebreaking run in the 11th inning against Edgar Santana (3-0), and Joey Votto hit a pair of two-run homers for the Reds.

Votto sent the game into extra innings by taking closer Will Smith deep in the ninth. He went 4 for 5 and reached safely five times.

Wade Miley gave up five runs and five hits with three walks and four strikeouts. In his previous 13 starts since May 14, Miley had gone 5-1 with a 2.30 ERA.

"We battled back," Miley said. "The offense did a great job. Joey had an outstanding day. It's tough to lose a game like that. We fought our way back in it, took the lead in the 11th, but tip your cap. Ozzie got a pitch and put a good swing on it."

Cincinnati threatened in the first when Jesse Winker walked and advanced on a wild pitch and Votto's single, but was stranded

when Toussaint struck out Mike Moustakas

MORE VOTTO

Votto tied Ty Cobb for 53rd place on the career walks list with 1,260. Votto is the Reds' career leader in walks. He also surpassed Pete Rose for third place on the Reds' career RBI list with 1,038.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Reds: RF Nick Castellanos was held out of the lineup after getting hit by a pitch in the foot on Wednesday. "It's a little bit swollen," Bell said. "He had it X-rayed. There's nothing going on there. He'll be available to pinch-hit."... OF Nick Senzel (knee) will play at least another game at Triple-A Louisville, but Bell indicated he might need another couple of games before he returns. Senzel is working some at shortstop in the minors.

New Colts QBs Eason, Ehlinger face first tests at joint practice

BY MICHAEL MAROT
ASSOCIATED PRESS

WESTFIELD — Indianapolis quarterbacks Jacob Eason and Sam Ehlinger finally got to throw some passes against a different defense Thursday.

Sam Darnold faced the first real challenge with his new Carolina teammates, too.

And after finishing the first of two joint practices at the Colts training camp facility, it's clear everybody still has some finetuning to do before Friday's next workout and Sunday's preseason opener.

"They're an 11-5 team, they were a playoff team last year, so I guess that's one of the reasons we wanted to come here," Panthers coach Matt Rhule said. "We want to see how far away we are from them."

Rhule wasn't impressed with the Panthers' slow start but applauded the team's reaction by picking up the pace later and perhaps setting up a better workout Friday.

But this week will largely be graded on the quarterback play.

Both teams made big offseason moves to acquire what they hope will be foundational pieces.

Carolina obtained Darnold in a deal with the New York Jets, who swapped first-round picks with the Colts in 2018 to take the former Southern California star No. 3 overall. Darnold is trying to revive his career after going 13-25 with the Jets, and the long weekend in Indy started with mixed results.

While he scrambled to extend plays, he also missed receivers down the field, and the drops didn't help.

"There's also a lot of plays our tight ends left out there today, too, and you can't always tell it, but we're not probably where we're supposed to be, and when the play's not there, Sam's got to turn and throw the ball away," Rhule said. "All of us have got to be a little better in the passing game tomorrow."

Meanwhile, the Colts found themselves working in two youngsters.

Carson Wentz, the projected starter after a trade with Philadelphia, hasn't practiced in almost two weeks because of an injured left foot. Wentz was walking around on the field with a mask — and no protective gear around the surgically repaired foot.

Team owner Jim Irsay told reporters the Colts would be cautious with Wentz for the Sept. 12 season opener against Seattle.

"In talking with Carson, I told him 'Look, you have to be right. We need you to be 100%, don't rush it,'" Irsay said. "He's a competitor, but I told him don't come back until you're truly, truly ready."

If Wentz doesn't play against the Seahawks, Irsay believes the likely replacement may already be in camp.

The strong-armed Eason is in his second season out of Washington, but his rookie year was a washout. Joint practices and the preseason were canceled, and as No. 3 on the depth chart he never took a regular-season snap. When Wentz went down, the former Washington star initially inherited the No. 1 job.

But he's been splitting reps this week with rookie Sam Ehlinger, a sixth-round draft pick, and that's the plan for Friday and likely Sunday. Ehlinger is more athletic and has better touch, which were evident again Thursday.

"Both Sam and Jacob, I thought, were really solid," coach Frank Reich said. "They both had touchdown passes in that last period. I just felt like there was some pretty good execution, all things considered. It was their first go-around ... going against an NFL defense."

The already short-handed Colts started the day without All-Pro guard Quenton Nelson (foot), starting center Ryan Kelly (elbow), projected left tackle Eric Fisher (Achilles tendon) or this year's top two draft picks, defensive linemen Kwity Paye (ankle) and Dayo Odeyingbo (Achilles tendon) among others. Running back Nyheim Hines joined the list when he appeared to suffer a lower leg injury during a special teams period.

And, naturally, there was a minor skirmish when Colts receiver Michael Pittman Jr. was grabbed from behind as he was walking toward the Colts huddle.

Still, both coaches — and the three quarterbacks — managed to see what they needed.

"I thought early on, on offense, we were really sort of hesitant," Rhule said. "I think guys like Christian (McCaffrey) got real upset about that and helped us kind of get out of that and wake up a little bit."

Temporary Inflation Can Damage Retirement Planning

"Warren Buffet once pointed out that when you do the math, it is obvious that inflation is far more destructive to wealth than any tax levied on us by the government." Stephen Dybwad

Layin' It on the Line

By Stephen Dybwad
Retirement Planning/
Wealth Management

It probably hasn't escaped your notice that consumer prices have gone rogue in 2021. Prices for goods and services are surging at the fastest pace in over ten years, threatening to squeeze households and squelch a potential post-COVID economic recovery. Economists, bankers, and pundits insist that inflation rates reflect pandemic-induced trends and are only temporary. However, many retirees, pre-retirees, and investors are concerned that prices will keep going up, stalling economic growth and causing stocks to plummet. If you are a certain age, you might remember the double-digit inflation of the 1960s and 70s, which reached its' apex during the Jimmy Carter Administration. Like all inflation, the price hikes were due to several factors, including an oil crisis in the Middle East, excessive government spending, and a slow-acting Federal Reserve.

Inflation is the silent thief of retiree wealth.

Unfortunately, it is impossible to know if our current rising prices are temporary or a sign of things to come. Yet, many economists believe that the diversified, globally integrated US economy is big enough and robust enough to avoid the hyperinflation found in countries such as Zimbabwe.

Still, if you are about to retire, you should maintain vigilance when it comes to inflation. Even if increased inflation lasts only a few years, it can wipe out a significant part of your retirement savings. An annual inflation rate of just 3% seems insignificant. However, at a 3% rate, if you currently have monthly expenses of $4,000, they will be $5,000 a month in just ten years. For this reason, it is critical for those within ten years of retirement to review their plans and adjust for worst-case scenario inflation levels.

Many people fail to realize just how significant the impact of inflation is on their savings. For example, if you own an asset that is bringing in 4% returns with no income tax, and the annual inflation rate is also 4%, that scenario is equivalent to a 100% tax in a time where inflation is at ZERO! If the inflation rate were to go to 5%, and your asset will still making only 4%, you would be paying a tax equivalent to 125%.

Bake inflation protection into your financial blueprint

Inflation is a stealth tax that, although it doesn't go entirely unnoticed, is not as in-your-face as government-levied taxes. Government tax increases, such as those on income or property, are more readily identified and felt. On the other hand, inflation is like bleeding to death from a thousand tiny pinpricks rather than one gaping wound. Inflation expresses itself as a few cents more for a loaf of bread, a five-cent price increase on coffee, and so forth. Inflation leaves you scratching your head, wondering how your paycheck could vanish so rapidly.

Retirees and those leaving the workforce must partner with their advisors to put some armor around their wealth in a few years. Your savings must be protected as much as possible, or you risk running out of money when you need it most. Your advisor or advisory team may recommend various strategies using things such as certain types of annuities, cash-flowing investments, or even precious metals or cyber currencies.

Depending on your goals and risk tolerance, alternate investment strategies can form a protective barrier against erosive elements, including inflation, sequence of returns risk, and other attacks on your wealth.

The bottom line is: Like an unwelcome house guest, it's bound to show up when you least expect it, and it will outstay its welcome nearly every time.

Don't forget to plan for inflation.

Hanover to induct three into HoF

Hanover College announced this week that a trio of Panthers — Molly Martin Pabst, Carley Meek Riehle and Larry Duke — will be inducted into the Athletic Department Hall of Fame this fall.

Molly Martin Pabst, a 2011 graduate, played four seasons with the Hanover women's basketball program, where she was a four-year letter winner for the Panthers. In her time at Hanover, Pabst helped lead the Panthers to a Heartland Collegiate Athletic Conference regular season and tournament championships.

During her career with the Panthers, she earned several accolades including HCAC Newcomer of the Year in 2007, conference Most Valuable Player in 2011, and was a four-time First Team All-HCAC selection. Furthermore, she was named Second Team All-Region at the conclusion of her junior year before earning First Team All-Region honors in 2011.

She was also recognized as an Honorable Mention All-American.

Carley Meek Riehle, a 2008 graduate, is arguably one of the best volleyball players to ever wear a Hanover uniform as she was named a four-time First Team All-HCAC selection, while also earning HCAC Most Valuable Player accolades in 2007.

Larry Duke, the voice of the Panthers, started broadcasting Hanover athletics in 1984 when he called his first football contest on WORX radio with Bob Sieman and has now been on the air for nearly 400 football games, including nine NCAA contests and three NAIA.

Football isn't the only sport Duke has broadcast. He can also be heard on the sidelines of basketball games, where he has broadcasted 17 men's NCAA games including three Sweet 16 appearances and a trip to the Elite Eight.

downpour washed out their match at North Branch Golf Course on Thursday.

Both local teams were playing well with Shawe's Gia Craig posting a 33 through seven holes en route to what would have been a career-best round.

"Although we had no official score, I was very proud of the way the girls played last night. We did not have our best match prior to this one and the girls came out focused," Southwestern coach Matt Johnson said. "We hit more fairways and greens than we have previously. I'm happy with the results we were able to get before the rain set in."

Shawe now competes in the Madison Invitational at Sunrise Golf Course today and hosts Lawrenceburg, Henryville and New Washington at Sunrise on Monday. Southwestern was to play Trinity Lutheran on Friday and host Switzerland County, Jac-Cen-Del and South Ripley at Butler Falls on Monday.

HEAT CANCELS CUBS, PACERS

Madison and Switzerland County both had girls golf matches canceled on Thursday due to excessive heat.

Madison will host the Madison Invitational at Sunrise Golf Course today and compete in the Floyd Central Invitational next Saturday. Switzerland County heads to Southwestern on Monday.
